'If I
Should Die Tonight'
Don't reflect; act.
If you should die tonight, your family might be in actual need of that dollar a week you might have saved. For that dollar a week, if you had deposited regularly, would amount to a good-sized sum which, with its interest, would assist your family over a crisis.
Saving is a mighty good habit, anyway.
Better begin now.

Upon the jury being instructed by Judge Robinson, bringing in a directed verdict for acquittal, the defendant, John Silver, was yesterday judged not guilty of rape in the case of Territory of Hawaii vs. John Silver. The testimony of the prosecution was deemed insufficient to establish a case to convict.

WOULD MAKE POLICE POWERS MORE SPECIFIC

Outlining more specifically the powers of the police and the privileges of persons held on suspicion by them, Captain Evan da Silva, in house bill No. 37, which was sent to the house judiciary committee yesterday afternoon, proposes an interesting amendment to section 2770 of the revised laws, which now covers the subject.

The section as it at present appears on the statute, says: "In all cases of arrests for examination, the person making the same must conduct the party arrested before the court or magistrate empowered to take such examination, within forty-eight hours after his arrest, except in cases where a longer delay is absolutely necessary to meet the ends of justice."

Captain da Silva's amendment would have it read thus:

"In all cases of arrest for examination, the person arrested may be taken into custody and held for investigation for a period of one week after the arrest of such person, in cases of murder, burglary, robbery or other felonies, and for a period of forty-eight hours in misdemeanor cases.
If at the expiration of such time no charge be preferred against the person so arrested, then the officer having such person in custody shall immediately after the expiration of such time release the person in custody without having him brought before court; such release shall be noted on the record of arrest, and the officer making the arrest shall not be held liable for damages."

SAW BERTOLIOT

Two Hawaiians with the city and county road department engaged in making repairs to the highway near the point where Chauffeur Bertoliot met his tragic death, while driving the high-powered American racing car, testified yesterday as to what was the accident which resulted in killing the driver and seriously injuring Henry Hustace.

According to the story related to the jury of six men, called together by Coroner Charles Rose, the machine is alleged to have turned completely over after striking in the ditch.
The auto righted itself and was found firmly resting on all four wheels, with the dead body of the driver lying on the ground near the front of the machine. The automobile was estimated as traveling between sixty and seventy miles an hour when it left the road for the ditch.

BIG INITIATION

Sixty-five new members of the Moose herd will enter the sacred portals of the order Friday evening at half past seven o'clock. The arrangements for this, the greatest of all single initiations in the history of the local branch of the order are now practically complete, and the officers have gone to special efforts to make the affair a noteworthy one. The uniform rank team, of thirty members will give a special drill, at some time that evening, and the ceremonies of initiation will be carried out to the last least jot of the ritual. After the initiation there will be a smoker, to which all local and visiting Moose are invited. Preparations have been made to take care of the largest crowd ever gathered here for a Moose ceremonial. The committee on arrangements is made up of E. H. F.
Wolter, chairman; Julius Asch, Jr., J. Baptiste, J. T. Boyd, P. Whitehouse, W. A. Kennery and Charles Barron.

"Waiter!"
"Coming, boss."
